

"Christine A. Murow holds a Bachelor of Science degree in music education from Susquehanna University, where she attended on a full academic scholarship and graduated magna cum laude in 1967. She taught piano privately for almost 40 years before retiring. During those years she served as music theory chairman for music teachers groups in her home state of Maryland, and in that capacity she had the idea to found KITS, offering music theory books and annual exams through the mail. She is the composer of student level piano pieces, published in the collections Sounds for One Hand and Voices of Invention, and is listed in Who's Who of American Women, Millennium Edition."
